DON'T MISS

On the Cover:

The City of Washington EMS has two stations and two ambulances. The department has 24 volunteers and one full-time employee who serve the community to provide EMS services. Washington EMS is very proud of the volunteers who have served over the years. Learn more in the service spotlight article on page 18.

Peer Review and Your Comments

We strive to publish the best KEMSA Chronicle possible for each issue. In order to do this, we have a peer review process in place to review submitted articles for quality and accuracy. This magazine is dedicated to professional emergency medical education. Information on activities within the Kansas Emergency Medical Services Association is provided for our members and the public. To provide comments or to find out more about the Chronicle, contact the editor, Mary Napier, at mary@kems.org.
